SOUVENIR of the

First Expeditionary Force from Queensland to go to the Seat of War

Poulsen photo

Sir A. Morgan, Lieutenant-Governor of Queensland

Our Queensland First Contingent comprises over 2,000 officers and men, and this booklet is issued as a souvenir of Queensland's complement and to serve as a record and memento of the gallant men who responded so readily to the

ON the declaration of war the Commonwealth Government immediately cabled the Imperial Authorities, offering to send an Expeditionary Force of 20,000 men to assist the Empire in this the greatest struggle in history. The offer was gratefully accepted by the mother country and immediately the enrolment of volunteers was begun, officers and men enthusiastically rallied to the call, and in the course of two or three weeks the whole of the contingents were in camp. The offer was made on the 3rd August, 1914, and before the end of September the troops were ready for the front.

The command of this Expeditionary Force has been entrusted to Major-General Bridges, who is ably assisted by the best officers in Australia.

To transport the troops to England twenty-eight of the largest and best liners that come to Australian waters were engaged as troopships. The whole of the cost (estimated at more than £5,000,000) of equipping and maintaining the troops during the war will be borne by Australia, and even if the cost should be treble the amount it will be cheerfully and readily responded to in aid of the Empire. Second and Third Expeditionary Forces are now in course of enrolment.

call to arms. Theirs is the spirit that has built up the greatness of England's Empire—the spirit that will support it while empires last. May Providence guide them to speedy victory and a safe return to sunny Australia.
